Art Unit: 1711

Applicant's arguments filed 3-20-06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Rejections under 35 USC 112 are withdrawn in light of Applicants' amendments.

The following rejections are maintained:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Watson, Jr. et al. (4,816,494).

Watson, Jr. et al. disclose preparations of polyurethane foams from combinations of polymer-modified polyols as claimed by applicants, blowing agents and catalysts as claimed by applicants, and other additives and reactants which are combined with isocyanates at indices as defined by applicants' claims (see column 3 line 30 – column 5 line 21, column 5 lines 53 - column 7 line 23, and the examples, as well as, the entire document).

Applicants' arguments have been considered, but rejection is maintained for the reasons set forth above. Disclosure of Watson, Jr. et al. is not limited to what is disclosed by the examples. Anticipation based on the disclosure as indicated above is maintained to be evident and has not been rebutted.

The following is set forth as an alternative to the above rejection, and is to be addressed separate from the above held position.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Watson, Jr. et al. (4,816,494).

Watson, Jr. et al. disclose preparations of polyurethane foams from combinations of polymer-modified polyols including those claimed by applicants, blowing agents and catalysts as claimed by applicants, and other additives and reactants which are combined with isocyanates at indices as defined by applicants' claims (see column 3 line 30 – column 5 line 21, column 5 lines 53 - column 7 line 23, and the examples, as well as, the entire document).

Watson, Jr. et al. differs from applicants' claims in that it does not particularly require combinations of polymer modified polyols as claimed. However, the reference does disclose employment of each of the claim selected polymer-polyols as being acceptable for the purpose of achieving the enhanced cushioning properties desired. Accordingly, it would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art to have employed combinations of the recited polymer polyols of Watson, Jr. et al. in the preparations of Watson, Jr. et al. for the purpose of providing enhanced cushioning effects in products derived therefrom in order to arrive at the products and processes of applicants' claims with the expectation of success in the absence of a showing of new or unexpected results.

It is further noted that it is prima facie obvious to substitute equivalents, motivated by the reasonable expectation that the respective species will behave in a comparable manner or give comparable results in comparable circumstances. In re Ruff 118 USPQ 343; In re Jezel 158 USPQ 99; the express suggestion to substitute one equivalent for another need not be present to render the substitution obvious. In re Font, 213 USPQ 532.

Applicants' arguments have been considered, but rejection is maintained for the reasons set forth above. Motivation to make the combinations as set forth in the claims is maintained to be properly established as set forth above, and applicants' indications of limits to what the examples present are insufficient in rebutting the position held above.

As to applicants' arguments regarding showings of results, it is held that applicants' showings of results are not commensurate in scope with the scope of the claims, and it is not seen that applicants have demonstrated clear and convincing evidence of unexpected results. The following should also be considered:

Claims Must be Commensurate With Showings:

Evidence of superiority must pertain to the full extent of the subject matter being claimed. In re Ackerman, 170 USPQ 340; In re Chupp, 2 USPQ 2d 1437; In re Murch 175 USPQ 89; Ex Parte A, 17 USPQ 2d 1719; accordingly, it has been held that to overcome a reasonable case of prima facie obviousness a given claim must be commensurate in scope with any showing of unexpected results. In re Greenfield, 197 USPQ 227. Further, a limited showing of criticality is insufficient to support a broadly claimed range. In re Lemin, 161 USPQ 288. See also In re Kulling, 14 USPQ 2d 1056.

Results Must be Unexpected:

Unexpected properties must be more significant than expected properties to rebut a prima facie case of obviousness. In re Nolan 193 USPQ 641 CCPA 1977.

Obviousness does not require absolute predictability. In re Miegel 159 USPQ 716.

Since unexpected results are by definition unpredictable, evidence presented in comparative showings must be clear and convincing. In re Lohr 137 USPQ 548.

In determining patentability, the weight of the actual evidence of unobviousness presented must be balanced against the weight of obviousness of record. In re Chupp, 2 USPQ 2d 1437; In re Murch 175 USPQ 89; In re Beattie, 24 USPQ 2d 1040.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
